MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

MLLE. ETELKA BORRY. Mile. Borry, who appeared at the Fifth Avenue Theatre on Monday night, has given two per-formances of Camille and one of Adrienne Lecouvreur. The lady is a foreigner, and she speaks English with a for eign accent and a foreign cadence. Furthermore, she is inexperienced in its use. It might, therefore, be unkind to review the efforts of such a performer, in any other than a lenient spirit. Mile. Borry, however, must have been well aware of the existence of this disadvantageous condition under which she chose to appear in this capital, and, if so, must have assumed that her talents as an actress would overcome and dispel it. This was the case with Mme. Janauschek, and again with Mme. Modjeaks, both of whom succeeded. To the question of profes-Monal powers, accordingly, the observer is, in a measure compelled to direct attention in the case of Mile. Borry. Were she ever so proficient in speaking English, her nature would, nevertheless, remain essentially un changed, and her professional ability would stand at precisely its present level. No person, at this late day, is justified in presenting here such backneyed characters as Camille and Adrienne, in broken English who cannot act them surpassingly well. The nature displayed by Mile. Borry is conven tional, energetic and hard, while her art, in acting, is marked by mechanical design, which she has not the skill to conceal and which is adorned by no sort of felicity. Her death scene, as Camille, was so cold and teis that it came near to the confines of mere mechanic mockery; and she acted Adrience without sensibility grace or any quality of passion or romance. It is diffi. cult to believe that this actress has, indeed, had the advantage of any considerable stage experience. moves awkwardly, her gestures are ungraceful and her whole professional personality is dull and tame. If comparatively a novice she shows uncommon force, comparatively a novice she shows uncommon force, and after sufficient training might succeed in such fiint-like and shiwing characters of comedy as Mrs. Cambour or Mrs. Oakley. If an old actrees, it is not very surprising that she should be in quest of new fields.

Mile. Borry is a lady of tail and distinguished figure, and has the dark, aquiline, Hebrew face, together with a decidedly Hebrew inclination for highly colored raiment and precious gens. Her voice is ample, but neither musical nor sympathetic. In the parts that she has chosen she is entirely out of place, and the duil effect of her acting is intensified by the incompetence of most of the players who compose her company. The bones of Maurice de Suze, monidering in the vanit of that grim old church in Strasburg, might well stir in their darkness at such a depionable travesty of the Interplet soldier as that afforded in the acting of Mr. Henry St. Maur.

The re-cutrance here of Miss Blanche Grey, who acted the Princes, has been observed with satisfaction by old play-goers; and her denotement of the wrath of a josious and vindictive woman, in the scene of the dark encounter, was painfully truthful. Mr. Norman gave a good performance of Michonact.—Miss Lotta is to Sippear at the Fifth Avenue Theatre on the 28th of May.

STANDARD THEATRE-"SATANELLA." Balfe's spectacular opera, "Satauella," was produced last evening at the Standard Theatre for the first time in many years, after long and ardnous preparation. The house was well filled. Allowing for the inevitable defects of a first-night performance, which were more than usual in number last evening because the scenery and mechanical properties are peculiarly "heavy" and alaborate, it seems most likely that "Satanella" will be found to take with the public and continue to attract for a considerable time. When everything shall run with perfect smoothness it will be a sumpthous, striking and effective spectacle. It has every quality of good spectacle-scenery that is really impos-ing, gorgeous costumes, sudden transformations, appearances and exits-and the supernatural element, with plenty of red fire. We are not so certain that the title-rôle is well placed.

Miss Alice May may possibly have been nervous on a first appearance, and may reasonably be expected to improve her singing of last evening, but if her abhorrence of the orchestral pitch shall prove chronic, the part should be given to some other performer. Miss Rose Temple was in-effective as Stella and Mr. Traverner seemed over-powered with Rupert. Anything of more amusing faintness than his "O, rapture i" is inconceivable. But it may be allowed that the company generally seemed over-fatigued with continued rehearsal, and it is quite possible that the parts which candor requires us to say were last evening inefficient may be very greatly bettered in subsequent representations. Even if this were subsequent representations. not so, the extreme beauty and grace of Miss Marie Jansen as Leifa would atone for many short-comings. Such a vision as shelosfered to universal admiration is rarely seen on any stage. The music of the part, which suits her better than that of Iolanthe, was sung with sweetness and propriety of emphasis and effect, and her acting was uniformly well studied and telling in expression.

Mr. Bornemann's Arimanes was rather grotesque than terrible. The brief ballet was extremely pretty. It is common in discussing operato mention the music, but this of Balfe requires only brief notice. It has gleams of melodic brightness, but it is mainly trivial and uninteresting. The quasi-finale of the third act, and the septet in the fourth act are rather pleasing. the extreme beauty and grace of Tather pleasing. The introducti on of the cross in the final tableau is PHILADELPHIA, May 9 .- The May Musical Festival was begun this evening by a concert at the Academy of Music, which was thronged by a fashionable audience. The chorus was the largest and best ever heard in this city, numbering 550 voices with 100 musicians. After the festival overture by Nicolai, the Sixth Chandos Anthem by Handel was by Nicolal, the Sixin Changos Anthem by hander we rendered for the first time in this city by a chorus and orchestra, and was pronounced a success. Madame Boema made a decided hit in "Ah, Perfido," by Beethoven. The concluding number of the concert was Spohr's Oratorio, "The Last Judgment," in which Madame Boema, Miss Emma Cranch and Max Helnick were the soldists. The leader was Charles M. Schmitz.

PENNSYLVANIA STILL FOR BLAINE.

Prom the Westchesier, Fran., Republican, (Lep.)
In spite of all temptations the Republicans of Pennsylvania remain frue to their first love, and are aimost solid in favor of the plumed knight for President in 1884. The trickery that deprived the Keystone State of casting a solid vote for James G. Blaine at Cincinnati and Chicago only served to bring the Republicans to a firmer friendship with that statesman, and the ability with which he filled the first Cabinet position under the lanented Garfield further endeared film to the people. Undoubtedly, to-day, Blaine is the first choice of two-thirds of the Republicans of Pennsylvania for President. They admire Edmunds and Harrison, or even would be astisfied with Lincoln or Sherman, just their love for the latter name gives way before the greater desire that James G. Blaine should be selected. The injustice which has been done Blaine only makes them more anxious, and his second failure to secure the nomination is no argument to them that he should not be named. Wheever Expects to get the voic of Pennsylvania must come after Blaine. No political chicanery can cheat the people out of their choice; and although Edmunds would probably receive a majority of her voics if Blaine were not a can diddete, this State is for Blaine first, last, and all the time receive a majority of her votes if Blaine were not a caudidate, this State is for Biaine first, last, and all the time FOR FREE TRADE IN SHOTGUNS ALSO.

From The Philadelphia Times (Ind.)

Mr. Watterson has jumped from the tariff discussion by taking up the defence of latter-day Kentucky morals as a fine art. He brings to it the same hysterical, boylably enthusiastic qualities which he has been wont to apply to the tariff. He thinks there is no other way to protect the Kentucky bonor and to put down wont to apply to the tariff. He thinks there is no other way to protect the Kentucky bonor and to put down libertimes and wantons than by the free use of a shotgun or revolver in the hands of the injured party. This is probably a very good theory for the initiate of Kentucky, but like the extreme, half-baked tariff notions it has superseded, it will scarcely find acceptance in the better developed and more civilized sections of the country. If this is the best Kentucky our offer it is clear that it might be improved even by the demoralizing influence of an fron mill or a cotton factory.

IRISH REFUGEES WANTED FOR COMMON CRIMES. Walsh, Sheridan and Tynan are not political wash, Sheridan and I vhan are not political offenders; they are not indicted for political crimes; they are wanted for a common crime, and it is not at all pleasant to have them here. Accordingly, if they cannot a currendered, it is the duty of the American and England Governments to amend the treaty. We surronder to Mexico every criminal who is guilty of larceny involving goods worth $25; we surrender to Switzerland per sons guilty of "forcible entry of an inhabited house"; to France we surrender encezzling servants; to Spain we surrender persons guilty of obtaining money under false pretences. It is absurd, then, that we cannot surrender to England men who appear to be the organizers of a foul murder, though the knife was actually wielded by their servants. The necessity of a closer extradition treaty is, indeed, apparent, and a repetition of the Derby-Fish correspondence is altogether undesirable.

A BROKEN ENGAGEMENT.

On April 27 H. L. Rattenbery signed a contract to appear as Hortensius in the cast of "Satanella," which was performed under James Barton's management for the first time at the Standard Theatre last night. Until last Friday Mr. Barton received frequent telegrams from Rattenbery stating that he would positively be in New-York in time for rehearsal. On Monday, however, he telegraphed to the effect that his doctors had ordered him to rest, and he must therefore threw up his part. As Mr. Barton had been informed that Rattenbery was playing every night with Rice's Surprise Party he dispatched Maurice Untermeyer a lawyer, and Gustavus Bothner, his treasurer, armed a lawyer, and Gustavus Bothner, his treasurer, armed with the necessary documents for procuring an injunction. It was found, however, when the party reached Philadelphia, that according to Pennsylvania statutes due notice must be given to all parties concerned before an injunction can be granted. Though Mr. Rice had only a verbal contract, terminable at a week's notice, with Rattonbery, he refused to allow him to leave, and Rattenbery himself did not appear willing to keep to his bond. After a great deal of discussion Mr. Untermeyer states that he put the case into the hands of S. B. Huey, a Philadelphia lawyer, and the motion for an injunction will be argued next Saturday in the Court of Common Pleas, in Philadelphia. Mr. Barton states that if that injunction is refused he will take steps to prevent Rattenbery appearing in every place in which he may attempt to sing.

AFFAIRS AT THE COLLEGE OF NEW-JER-SEY.

THE PLAN TO CREATE A DEAN OF FACULTY DIS-CUSSED-THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY COMMENCE-

PRINCETON, N. J., May 9 .- There was a

conference to-night between a sub-committee of the Trustees' Committee of Nine, Dr. McCosh and Dr. James O. Murray, relative to the place of a Dean of Faculty which has been suggested to relieve Dr. McCosh of some of his labors and permit him to remain President of the College of New Jersey and establish his School of Philosophy as well. The sub-committee was composed of Professor William Henry Green, Dr. A. A. Hodge and Dr. William C. Roberts. The purpose of the conference was to talk over the plan which was proposed by the trustees, and learn whether there is a possibility of effecting a practicable and satisfactory division of labor between Dr. McCosh and Dr. Murray, who is the trustees' choice for the office of Dean of Faculty, if it shail be determined to create it. The difficulties in the way of the plan are fully recognized, and there is an evident determination on all sides to act with deliberation and circum-spection in the matter. This the trustees are enabled to do by Dr. McCosh's attitude. He has not changed his mind since he gave notice of his intention to resign two or three months ago, but has signified his willingness to act in conformity with the wishes of the trustees, provided they will assume all responsibility in the premises. He said to the mittee of Nine last Saturday. To them I said these words: 'As I have announced, I will give in my resig-nation to the Board of Trustees at Commencement. Looking to the kindness I have received. I will not leave the college in difficulties, but whatever the trustees wish me to do it is to be understood that it is to be done on their asking and on their responsibility. "I have since agreed to meet the sub-committee and Dr. Murray, and talk over the plan of having a Dean of Faculty to relieve me of some of my labors as president. We will discuss the whole subject fully and frankly, but we cannot come to a determination. My resignation will go to the trustees; then if they ask me to continue as president under the new plan I will give their request as president under the new plan I will give their request thorough and careful consideration. I cannot now say that I will accede to it. In any event, my plan of a School of Philosophy having been sanctioned, I shall remain at Princeton as the head of that school. Last Saturday there was a meeting of the Princeton Alumni in New-York, to take steps to endow one of the chairs in the new school. The fund required is $60,000. I have promised that if they will endow one chair I will make an effort to get endow. will endow one chair I will make an effort to get endowments for the two others that are contemplated, and I

The address lasted about an hour, and gave such hints and suggestions as were deemed useful to men just entering the active work of the ministry. Dr. Snodgrass, president of the Board of Trustees, then presented the diplomas to the graduating class, which numbers twenty-eight. The Green Hebrew followship amounting to $600 per annum, was awarded to J. D. Davis, of Pennsylvania. The Alumni Association met at 1 p. m. The Rev. Dr. J. D. Wells, of Brooklyn, read a paper on "Evangelism, Lay and Clerical." Dr. Wells, took ground against such religious work as that carried out by Mr. Moody. The paper was chargefully discussed, Dr. McCosh opening the discussion and dissenting strongly from the ideas advanced in the paper. In the course of his address Dr. McCosh estated that he had been asked to deliver the course of Yale loctures on prescenting this year, but haddeclined-saying, however, that he was willing to deliver some lectures on prescenting this year, but haddeclined-saying, Drs. schenek and Roberts were appointed Necrological Committee.

THE DRIVEN-WELL CASES ..

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. DES MOINES, Iowa, May 9 .- In the United States Circuit Court this morning decision was rendered in the long-contested driven-well cases of Green against several hundred defendants in this State. The Court holds that the patent is entirely null and void; first, for abandenment to the public for several years before Green applied for a patent; second, for priority of use, and third, for want of novelty. The Court also holds that the relesue of the patent is void for the reason that it grants more and broader claims than the origina;

The tube or driven well, was, it is asserted, invented by Nelson W. Green, of Boston, while a Lieutenant-Colone in the 79th New-York Volunteers, serving in Missourt It was suggested by the capitulation of Colonel Mulligan to the Rebels, compelled by lack of water and the fact, belief, that a number of the wells of the region had been potented. The patent was first issued in 1868, and reissued in 1871. It includes "the process of constructing a well by driving or forcing an instrument into the ground until it is projected into the water, without removing the earth upward, as is done in boring," and also makes and has been allowed the broad claim to the right to the pump and pipe constituting an air-pipe well, and the use of any device which will utilize the atmospheric pressure to force the water underlying the earth into the well. William D. Andrews & Brother, of No. 233 Broadway, are the managers of the patent for Colonel Green. They were seen at their home, No. 4 East Thirtieth at., last evening. Both expressed doubt of the correctness of evening. Both expressed doubt of the correctness of the report.

"It is incredible that such a decision should be given by a United States Court," said George Andrews, one of the firm. "It is so at variance with the well-established law. The patent has been in litigation for ten years or more, and out of eight or ten decision readly has been given. Our proofs have been simply overwhelming. If such a decision readly has been given, it seems fair to say that it is the result of public clamor; there is no law that could possibly justify such a decision. We have numerous suits pending in this and other States, and such a decision will encourage the opposition. The case will of course be carried to the Supreme Court and the decision of the lowa Circuit Court will be reversed. United States Judges Benedict, Wheeler and Blatchford, of this State, Nelson, of Minnesota; Dillon, of Minnesota and lowa; Gresham, the present Postmaster-General, and Nixon, of New-Jersey; have already decided in our faver."

"You dirty villain, you murdered my sister."

A SCENE IN A POLICE STATION.

These words were addressed to a tall, blackmustached man in the First Precinct Police Station last evening by a handsome young woman dressed in heavy mourning. The man spoken to was fashionably dressed and wore a heavy gold ring besides other jewelry. He turned he heard the accusation; his face became white as a sheet and as he nervously pulled his jet black mustache, he said quickly, "Nonsense."

The yeung woman who made this charge was a prisoner, and with a sister stood before Sergeant Oates hysterically weeping. The sister, who was also dressed in mourning, was young and pretty. With some difficulty the story of the trouble was elicited. The young woman prisoner's name is Edith Turner. The complainant was the fashionably dressed man, whose name is Frederick Urin. He keeps a liquor store at No. 48 Broad-st. Some time ago Miss Turner's sister married Urin. Not long ago one of Urin's bartenders was examining a revolver. The weapon exploded accidentally, it is said, and the ball, entering the young woman's body, killed her. The bartender was exonerated, but Urin discharged him. Since then he has re-employed him Miss Edith Turner says, and she hints that her sister's death was not accidental, but was instigated by her husband. The dresses and jewelry left by the dead woman were claimed by the two remaining sisters, but Urin refused to give them up. face became white as a sheet and rused to give them up.

Yesterday the two sisters visited Urin's place and refused to leave it unless they received the goods. An effort had been made, apparently, to eject Miss Edith, as her clothing was torn and disarranged. Officer Edward Webber was called in and took the whole restrict the state. and took the whole party to the station.
"Do you make a charge against this lady ?" asked the sergeant of Urin.
Urin turned and said to the weeping girl: "If

Urin turned and said to the weeping girl: "If you will promise to keep away from my place I will withdraw the charge."

The young woman drew herself up and brushing the tears from her eyes indignantly replied:

"You viliain, I would rather accept the cold generosity of the sergeant, which means a cell, than be under the slightest gratitude to you."

"Oh, very well," said Urin, turning away.

"Sergeant," continued Miss Turner, "I will promise you not to go there again, but I will not promise not to send substitutes."

"Then you may go," said Sergeant Oates, and the two young women started toward Broadway. Urin, still pale and agitated, went back to his liquor store.

SALE OF " THE WORLD" NEWSPAPER, The following report in regard to the sale of The World newspaper was furnished last night by the Associated Press:

Mr. William Henry Hurlbert, president of the Press Publishing Company, completed vesterday the transfer of the entire property of The World newspaper to Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, of The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Mr. Hurlbert will announce this in The World this morning, and the first number of the newspaper under the editorial charge of Mr. Pulitzer will be issued Friday morning. It will continue Democratic, but Mr. Pulitzer will extend and modify its local features. The price paid by Mr. Pulitzer is understood to be about $400,000. This does not include the building erected for The World under Mr. Hurlbert's direction, in 1881, which has been leased for a term of ten years. Mr. Jay Gould in thus disposing of his entire interest in The World, is carrying out the policy before announced of closing out his holdings generally, except in railway and telegraph properties, preparatory to his tour around the world. It is understood to be the purpose of Mr. Hurlbert to sail for Europe shortly, and, in that case, it may be expected that he will take the opportunity afforded by his leisure to inspect the places in Great Britain which have received the attention of Mr. Robert P. Porter, and to review the accounts given by the latter from the standpoint of a tariff for revenue only.

A Tribune reporter made inquiries of Joseph Associated Press:

a tariff for revenue only.

A TRIBUNE reporter made inquiries of Joseph Pulitzer, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night, in regard to his reported purchase of The World.

'Yes," he said, "I have purchased the paper and will take charge of it at 9 a. m. to-morrow. I intend to make it a thorough American newspaperto un-Angileize it, so to speak. It will continue to be Democratic, but it will no longer be an advocate of free trade. I am not an extreme protectionist nor am I crazy on the subject of free trade."

"Will Mr. Hurlbert go abroad for The World?"

"He will not. His connection with the paper has ceased. If he is to review Mr. Porter's work, it is something of which I have no knowledge."

"Have you fixed upon the members of your editorial staff?"

"I lead to be a jumplified change in the staff." I shall make no immediate changes in the staff

"I shall make no immediate changes in the same of the paper, and no man will be disturbed who desires to remain, providing I find that he is competent to fill the place he holds. I have no intention to bring any new men to the city for the purpose of placing them on the editorial staff of the paper. In a news sense and in other ways I shall, of course, in time make considerable changes in the paper."

THE TROUBLES OF THE RUBBER TRADE

"The rubber manufactories have resumed work after having been shut down for nearly twelve weeks," said a well-known broker to a TRIBUNE re-weeks," said a well-known broker to a random porter yesterday.

"They were closed because of a surplus of manufactured goods and the high prices of crude rubber. These factories, when running to their full capacity, give employment to 8,000 men. The speculators have succeeded in kceping up the prices of rubber to a high figure. Crude rubber is worth at present $1 12 to $1 14 a pound. The opening of the factories has not created much of a demand yet. The stock on head in this city was large a few months ago, but hand in this city was large a few months ago, but has been bought up by the manufacturers. A dispatch to-day announces the arrival of a steamer a London with a cargo of 1,000,000 pounds of rub ber. It is expected that the troubles of the trade

The committee appointed to report a plan to reorganize the Republican party in the city met last night at the house of Edward Mitchell, No. 45 West Fifty fifth st. Besides Mr. Mitchell, there were present General Lloyd Aspinwall, John J. O'Brien, Chauncey M. Depew, William Dowd, Frederick Kahne, Colonel Charles S. Spencer, Whitelaw Reid, Solon B. Smith, James R. Marvio and W. A. Towniey. Professor Theodore W. Dwight, chairman of the sub-committee appointed at the previous meeting to report a plan of reorganization, was unable to be present. He sent a letter stating that circulars had been sent to a large number of persons inviting suggestions to regard to the best way to reorganize the party, but as yet no many replies had been received. He thought it would be better to give the sub-committee longer time to con-sider the subject. General Aspinwan, who was a member of the sub-committee, said that it could only report progress, but that there was every prospect of its reaching a satisfactory conclusion. An informal dissension on the subject of reorganization then followed. John J. O'Brien gave full expression of his views, and said that he was in favor of a thorough reorganization of the party. He was ready to see an abolition of the pledges now exacted by the District Associations, and an entire re-enrolment of the

Mr. Depew also took an active part in the discussion. I am chairman of the Executive Committee of the Republican Central Committee, to which this Committee on Reorganization is to report. I am a Stalwart of the Stalwart, and I have not the least doubt that the party on this city will be reorganized to the satisfaction of every housest Republican in the land. There is to be no hesitation in doing anything agreed upon by the sub-committee and there is not a machine man on it."

Ex-Assembly man Mitchell, in speaking to a Tribune reporter of the meeting, said: "The discussion was informal, but it gave full assurance of entire unanimity, which means complete success. The prospects in the State this year were considered and regarded as very promising. The committee will hold another meeting on Monday evening, May 14."

FOUND WOUNDED IN A HOTEL.

An engineer named H. W. Green, age fiftytwo, living at Hall's Hotel in Chatham-st., was found in his room yesterday afternoon shot in the head, and with a pistol recently exploded by his side. He was taken to the Chambers Street Hospital where it was found that his skull was fractured. No information could be gained as to whether it was a case of sulcide or an accident. Green had been at the hotel for some weeks. Although sensible he is unable to give any account as to the man-ner in which his wound was inflicted.

RODY OF A WOMAN FOUND IN THE RIVER.

Officer Worth, of the Steamboat Squad, at 10:30 last night found the body of a well dressed woman, age about thirty, in the river at the foot of Thirteenth-st. She were a brown stuff dress and silk clocked stockings. The body had not been in the water long. It was taken to the Morgue.

ACCIDENTS TO RAILWAY TRAINS.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 9 .- An accident on the Northwestern road at Wales, near Madison, yester-day caused the death of David Nichols, of Kenosha, fire man. Engineers Charles Lusner and John Spurr were injured, who, with Conductor J. C. Chandler, were taken to Madison. Several passengers were cut slightly, but none fetally injured. The verdict of the Coroner's inquest is that Nichols came to his death by an accident caused by the culpable negligence of the conductor and engineer of the first section tratu.

PETERSBURG, Va., May 9 .- A mail and passenger trait on the Atlantic and Raleigh Railroad was wrecked yesterday. There were eleven passengers aboard at the tme, none of whom was seriously injured. A brakeman had his hand badly crushed. The cars were a comple wreck, and the loss is heavy. One of the coaches roll a distance of fifty feet. The accident was caused by defective rail.

CONFERENCE OF WHISKEY DISTILLERS.

Indianapolis, May 9.—The Western Export ation of the Mississippi Valley met in this city today. About fifty distilleries were represented. The object of the conference was to determine upon the outinuance of the "pool" regulating the production of the firms represented and to consider the question of an immediate reduction in production. A resolution was adopted "that all distillers who can do so shall at once reduce their capacity so far as possible until June 1, and that after that date it shall be obligatory on mem-I, and that after that does to some of consideration to 20 per cent of their capacity." The distillers are now running only 40 per cent of their capacity, and by the terms of the resolution will, all told, run only 30,000 bushels a day after June 1. The action of the convention was a necessity in the light of the state of the whishey numbers.

BURIED UNDER A FALLING WALL,

New-Haven, May 9 .- An accident occurred fire in the livery stable of Rufus Smith to-night. After the fire had been nearly extinguished the firemen of hose carriage No. 7 were ordered away from the brick wall in Centre at. As they were going away the wall fell, burying them under the debris. Augustus Hyland and James H. Finnegan were so badly injured that it is thought they will die. Captain Frederick Catiln, J. Goodman, Edward Warren, David J. Shieids, George B. Catlin and Lester Jackson were more or less seriously injured

LEGISLATIVE CORRUPTION IN DAKOTA.

YANKTON, Dak., May 9 .- Officers have carefully guarded the names of the indicted legislators and refuse to give information. Four legislators were before the Grand Jury and asserted that they were offered pay for votes for the Capital bill, but they have not publicly, said who made the offers.

GREAT DAMAGE BY STORMS.

WILKESBARRE, Penn., May 9 .- One of the most disustrous tornadoes that ever visited this section of the State swept over the lower end of this county last evening. For awhile all telegraphic communication was shut off, and it was impossible to learn particulars. The greatest damage done was at Drifton, where two ccal-breakers belonging to State Senator Coxe were de-stroyed and two lives lost. The names of the victims were Alonzo Drum and an unknown Hungarian. They were killed by falling debris. A man named Coyle was also seriously injured. In Butler Township and Freeland great damage was done to property. Houses were unroofed, barns demolished and trees torn from their roots. In Conyngham over 30,000 feet of timber was destroyed. At Berwick the roof of the long bridge over the Susquehanna was blown off into the Susquehanna, and a gravel train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Schickshinny, was lifted from the train and the outlineer severely injured. At Hazelton a store, boxes, chimneys and fences were blown along through the streets promisenously, greatly endangering persons who chanced to be seeking shelter. The total losses will reach over $100,000.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 .- A dispatch from Easton, Penn., says that the burricage in the Lebigh and Wyoming valleys last evening was the severest ever known in Eastern Pennsylvania. Between Penn-Haven and Hazelton trees in the woods for a distance of 2,000 feet were torn down. The wind and rain beat so hard against the windows of the cars that the passengers had to place the cushions of the seats against them to keep the windows from being blown in. At Gould's Sidwindows from being blown in. At outlies state ing, near Whitehaven, the engine of a passenger train was struck by a falling telegraph pole and damaged. The same pole struck a passenger car and made splinters of its front. Near fleckport, a rock weighing at least thirty tons rolled from the hillside and lodged on the track. Near Stony Creek Station the bodies of four freight cars in a Leibigh Valley train were raised from the tracks while motion and thrown on their sides.

KETPORT, N. J., May 9 .- There was considerable damage done here by the storm last night. The sheds on one of the steamboat docks were blown out late the bay. A portion of the upper deck of the steamboat Holmdel was torn off by the wind. The house of Bur-rows Holmes was struck by lightning and set on fire, but the flames were extinguished before doing much DENVER, Col., May 10-12:50 a. m .- Damage by the hail storm yesterday will probably amount to $75,000. There is hardly a residence or public building in the city that escaped injury. The young fruit trees suffered to ribly. Every variety of fruit was killed. The loss to ranchmen in the immediate vicinity of Deaver is very heavy. Had the storm been general throughout the State the less would have amounted to millions.

CHICAGO, May 9 .- About 7 o'clock this evening heavy wind and rain storm, accompanied by lightning, broke over this city. Advices the manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company here are to the effect that the atorm is general, extending from 300 to 400 miles in every direction. Much trouble was experienced on account of electrical interference with the telegraph wires. Many of them were more orless disabled, including seven or eight between this city and New-York. At one time there was but one wire to St. Louis, one to Omaha, and none to Kansas City and a number of smaller places in the Northwest. In this city the telephone bells have been ringing all the evening.

HIGH LICENSE BILL KILLED.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 9 .- The indications are that the Harper High License bill was practically killed in the State Legislature to-day. The attempt was made in the House to call it up out of its regular order, but without success. Probably there will be another deadlock if its friends insist on calling the bill up out of its regular order on a majority vote. It is so low on the calendar that it cannot be reached in turn before final adjournment.

S. S. COX ON THE POETRY OF MECHANISM.

RALLIGH, May 9 .- S. S. Cox delivered a lecture on the "Poetry of Mechanism" at Tucker Hall, this city, this evening which was listened to by a large and appreciative audience. The lecturer was introduced by Chief Justice W. N. Smith. Mr. Cor received much attention here to-day. He visited the public buildings. To morrow he will go to Fayettoville, where he will lecture in the evening.

THREE MURDER TRIALS IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May. 9 .- After two days the attorneys in the "Jere" Dunn murder trial succeeded in securing a full panel of jurors before the adjournment this afternoon. The opening arguments will be made to morrow, and the taking of testimony will be begun.
Three murder trials are now in progress here. That of Jere Dunn for the murder of James Elliott; that of William Zeinke for the murder of Herman Berning, and that of Patrick Condon for the murder of Hugh Ward.

CONGRESSMAN KELLEY'S CONDITION.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 .- A consultation was held on the case of William D. Kelley this afternoon by Drs. Morton, Levick and Stryker. It was ascer tained that no ill results had attended the operation recently performed upon his cheek in disengaging from it a growth which was principally affecting the interior of the mouth. The patient was found in even better condition than had been expected.

UNION CLUB MATTERS.

It was reported yesterday that resolutions hostile to the present governing body of the Union Club had been posted on the Club bulletin board. No such resplutions had been placed there up to a late hour last night, however. One of the members whose passive, i not active hostlifty, to the present Governing Committee is well known, said: "If the resolutions have not already been posted, I think it likely they soon will be What exact form they will assume I can't tell, for I really trouble myself very little now about the details of really trouble myself very little now about the details of the club management. They will aim, however, I fancy, at changing the constitution of the committee, so as to exclude comparatively late comers to New-York and also to insure a more frequent election of the committee. As it is, some few men have undertaken to run the whole club themselves, and get indignant when any attempt to take their authority out of their hands is made."

Another member who has lately served on the Governing Committee said that he did not think any such resolutions would be posted, and if they were he did not think they would be indorsed by the club if put to a vote.

A FATHER HELD ON THE STATEMENT OF HIS SON.

Susan Knox, a married woman, age fortyfive, died suddenly yesterday at her home, No. 347 West Forty-seventh-at. On the statement of her twelve-yearold son, John Knox, her husband, was locked up in the Porty-seventh Street Station House. The boy said h father had beaten his mother and that they lived us happly together. The woman's body was not bruised and Knox, who is a laborer, denies having used an violence toward her.

PLAYING TWELVE OPPONENTS AT ONCE.

C. F. Barker, of Boston, continued his series of games at the New-York Checker Club yesterday. Out of seventeen games in the afternoon he won eleven, lost one, and five were drawn. In the evening he played twelve games simultaneously with as many opponents. Of these he won nine, and three were
